Adware Removal Tool is a lightweight and compact program that makes use of proven techniques to effectively address the issue at hand. The software uses an individual scanning engine to separate adware from other unwanted programs. It also employs an efficient antivirus engine for thoroughly scanning and removing malware. From time to time, users will find themselves with the possibility to send a virus to their contacts. There are multiple tools that people find convenient to use, but it can be a challenge to get all the features and functions the right tool provides. In this short guide, you will find out how you can easily send and receive virus by using a simple web browser. Send virus You are probably aware of the common practice of sending emails with viruses as attachments. There are multiple reasons why people use this kind of approach to spread viruses, but the easiest way is to use the 'Send' feature in the email client. The 'Send' option in a web browser is usually hidden, so you need to navigate to the Send (Mail) option by going to the File menu and then clicking Send. You can also find this option in the top menu. Once you open the menu, the first entry should be Mail, from which you can then select Send. When you open the Send option in a web browser, you will find a selection menu, where you can select the email you wish to send. At the end of the list, you will find the option to send files with. After selecting a file, you will be able to share it. You can find the Send option in any web browser. The Send option is a very simple thing, but it can be a huge help for those who want to send a virus, but don't want to spend the time to find a more complex virus sending tool. Receive virus The most common way to get a virus is to receive one from another person. When this happens, you should not panic, but make sure you don't react to the virus. The safest way to do this is to uninstall the virus. Click on the Uninstall button of the virus and wait a few seconds for the process to end. Be aware that most viruses will not come with an uninstall option, so if you don't see it, you can always try to reinstall the software. Another method that can help is to add the malware entry to the virus black list. This is more of a safety precaution and should not be the first
