From the section Football Aleksandar Mitrovic says his Serbian parentage is a positive for his football and would rather "live and die" for the cause than stay in the Premier League. The Newcastle striker, the £6.2m signing of the summer, returned from Euro 2016 with his nation's only major trophy in a 1-0 victory over Sweden in Sunday's final in Paris. "My mother is Serbian and my father is Albanian, so we came here with a chance," he said. "We never thought we would win it. We believed in ourselves, but we are very happy." The 23-year-old, who gave Newcastle their biggest Premier League win of the season with a 12-yard volley in the third minute at St James' Park, believes he can help the Magpies become genuine contenders in the top half of the table. "It is a very big day for Serbia and my mum," he said. "For my family, for my people, it is a very big day. "I am really happy. We are lucky to be in the Premier League, we are lucky to have the chance to play in the Premier League, but we have to work. "We have two more years in the Premier League. We have to fight to stay in the top half. "I would die and live for the team. We have to stick together. We have a lot of good players, we have a lot of good things. "We have a bit more time to work and we will be ready." Mitrovic was born in London, but with his father Zoran from the Bosnian capital of Sarajevo, and his mother Sanda from the Belgrade area of Valjevo, he has dual citizenship. Mitrovic's Serbian parents left for England in 1995 when the fall of the communist government saw them become refugees. He has played for Serbia at youth levels and had a brief loan spell at Fulham in 2008 before coming to England.

===== A TV show is about a group of people trying to survive in an environment where competition is not only about their skills, but also about their luck. As a result of these competitions, they accumulate money, fame and power. Inside of this group, there is a player of a special kind called the lucksmith. He is not a villain, but a man, who is driven by his very nature to create chaos. His goal is to undermine the system. Of course, he cannot do this from inside the system, he needs a means of escaping, which is provided by the power of a TV show. But does this work? To see his plans, we have to follow him step by step. In this adventure, you have to see how he plans his next move. Just like in a TV show. The lucksmith is fighting against a team of dedicated heroes. He wants to turn them into his pawns and create chaos in their ranks. He is slowly prevailing and this is not allowed. =====
